Subject: Stop sending the official paper test report to client

ALS Testing Services Testing (Thailand) Co., Ltd. (ALS) has a policy of supporting and promoting environmental conservation, we also aim to improve our workflow for the benefit of our clients. ALS has streamlined the test report preparation process to make it faster by utilizing the technology from the report preparation, reviewing, and approval process. ALS will stop sending the official paper test report to client. ALS still maintain sending the electronic test report (PDF file) via email only. The electronic test report which's sent via email would be considered a completed official report from ALS. Each report will be approved and electronically signed by the laboratory manager. Therefore, client can refer the test result from electronic test report in place of the paper test report.

However, the customer service officer still works and send the electronic test report files to client via the email as usual process. This implementation will be started on October 1st, 2025. If client would like to get further information, please do not hesitate to contact ALS customer service Department
